justed. Turns $25 per week; board extra, $7 to $12 per week, to suit purse and inclination.

All others claiming to use our remedies are frauds and impostors.

We have given every Keeley Institute established

HOW A POZZLE WAS SOLVED.

When you want a certain article, you want the best kind of article, don't you?

But how to determine which make is best is what puzzles you, isn't it?

And when the puzzle is solved for you,
by authority which cannot be questioned, you are pleased, aren't you?

And you would like to hear of one puzzle that has been solved for the people of the whole world, wouldn't you?

Well, we will tell you about that very puzzle, and its solution.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889 at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France.

This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and
awarded that company the highest prize of feted, the GRAND PRIZE, giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French Government, as a further testimony of superiority, decorated M.
Wheeler & Wilson, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the most prized honor of France.

That is how the puzzle of the best sewing machine in the world was fully solved by the most competent authority in the world in favor of the No. 9 and No. 12 Wheeler & Wilson machines.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for business purposes, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best, it will be your own fault.

Ask your sewing machine dealer for the
No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine, and if he does not keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue, prices and terms.

It is given out cold that Harry ernor of Alaska.

BRainerd has real electric street cars and a line of road in operation, and she's proud of it.

It is President C. N. Parker now, as that gentleman was elected president of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening.

The city council is taking the right step when that body decides that it is wise to increase the capacity of the electric light plant.

It was exactly 2 p. m. on May 4th, 1893, when the first electric street car ever run in the city of Brainerd passed the bank corner at Sixth and Front streets. We are quite metropolitan now.

The Mayor Talks.

Mayor Hemstead issued a manifesto or proclamation to the city council on Monday evening which was called forth by the articles in the city papers on the "gaubler's combie" last week.

To the Hon. President and Aldermen
of the City Council.

I desire to say in reference to certain statements and implied accusations made by the mayor, chief of police, and some unknown persons are receiving money for granting the privilege to conduct gambling rooms, unimpeached by the "Executive" in his public office, that I emphatically deny any knowledge of any such transactions. "Evil exists, but let it not be found against administration," sounds beautiful, but when confronted with the fact and precedent that such evils have existed since the foundation of this city, it is no easy task to check it at once. I am no Moses who with a wave of a wand could stop all these evils. It has been my aim and object to gradually, effectually and peaceably prohibit the existence of gambling within our city. I have previously instructed the chief of police to stop all gambling in saloons and in places where intoxicated persons congregate, and he has very effectually succeeded in doing so. This no doubt has inspired the wrath against my administration of those persons injured by this rule. Notwithstanding the wrath and maledictions of such persons I shall continue to administer the laws and ordinances of this community without fear and favor. I therefore urgently request that you honorable body order this matter to a committee with full power to administer justice, send for persons and paper, and investigate the alleged charges, and find out if it be true that the mayor, chief of police or some unknown person are receiving money for the above named purpose. I would not deem it proper to suggest that the mayor should be impeached, but when the "city press," the triumvirate type triers, publish implied accusations and charges, creating in the minds of the people at least a suspicion that such things may be true, I think it sometimes best that the matter be fully investigated by the city council.

Dated May 1, 1893.

WERNER HEMSTEAD, Mayor.

This was followed by a discussion which resulted in referring the matter to a committee consisting of R. H.
Paine, J. McMurry, L. J. Johnson and P. G. Fegelsdorf. Mr. Paine made some very pointed remarks and stated that the newspaper reports were true and that he had spent a day in unearthing the facts. His remarks were very interesting and undoubtedly if he pushes matters further he appears to be doing the fur fly before him.

By weather sets in. These "fliers" have been traced to a certain party who admitted having received them but says he does not know what to do with the money now he's got it.

The committee met last night and had several witnesses before them.
Chairman Paine told a DISPATCH reporter today there was nothing for publication, although he would say that "the committee got at facts last night that they never expected to discover and they were satisfied with the work so far."

A Spring-Time Journey.

After the long winter, of course you intended to take a trip somewhere, now that spring has come again. Go to the World's Fair, and let your journey be along the east bank of the Mississippi, by day-light. In the United States of Minneapolis or St.
Paul, you will find a train which carries reclining chairs, and the strange thing about it is that no extra charge is made for a seat. They contain well-appointed lavatories, and a comfortable smoking-room, with a uniform porter in constant attendance. Flying along down the river, we cross the St. Croix where it em-pines into the Mississippi, a fine view and shortly the magnificent blue expanse of Lake Pepin comes in sight, with Point-Ne-Point and Maiden Rock to claim attention, and a panorama of beauty as we skirt the lake for thirty miles. Winona is seen on the west bank and Trempealeau Mountain is another noted landmark. La-Crosse, a beautiful city, second largest in Wisconsin, is reached for dinner.
Southward we go passing picture-que De Sota Prospects and Woodbury Peaks, historical Prairie du Chien, cross the Wisconsin River, and soon see the prosperous and handsome city Dubuque just across the river. Sav-anna is our supper station, and thence we climb out of the Mississippi valley and speed through the lovely prairies of Northern Illinois, reaching the World's Fair City in the evening. All who have taken this trip are loud in their praises of it as a scenic journey, unrivaled in attractions. It can be taken only by the Burlington Route. Tickets may be obtained of any ticket agent of this or connecting lines, and information will be cheerfully furnished by W. J. O. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

Pacia Wants to Fight.

John Pacia, of this city, has issued the following challenge to Win Mcguire:

I, the undersigned, John Pacia, of
Win McGuire, of Royaltown, Minn., to a twenty-five round glove contest, Marquis of Queensbury rules, for a purse and five hundred dollars a side, said contest to take place six weeks after signing articles at the Little Falls opera house, one hundred dollars a side to be deposited at the time of signing agreement. Now if Win McGuire is the man he claims to be he will lose no time in arranging this contest. I will give him ten days to answer the above.

JOHN PACIA,
Brainerd, Minn.

A DISPATCH reporter saw Pacia yesterday and ascertained that the challenge was issued in good faith. Mr.
Pacia says that it is quite possible that the fight will come off as he understands that McGuire has found backing to the amount at Royaltown where he now resides. Our people will remember that these two men fought at Red Sand lake two or three years ago and that McGuire was given the fight on a fowl. Ever since that time it has been a desire on Pacia's part to have the fight over again as he claims to be able to give McGuire the worst of it and was not satisfied with the decision at that time, and in fact many of the people who saw the contest think Pacia the best man. The event will attract a
Falls.

Since the above was in type Mcguire has issued the following answer to Pacia:

ROYALTOWN, Minn., April 29, 1893.

John Pacia, of Brainerd, Minn., has sent me for a twenty-five round contest for $500 a side. Maquis of Queensbury rules to govern contest. I accept the challenge and will meet Mr. Pacia in Royaltown at any time he may appoint. If Pacia meets me, it must be with the smallest glove and by the rules.

WINN MCGUIRE.

An Interesting Letter.

Dr. J. C. Rosser, formerly of this city writes the following interesting letter, to the Grand Rapids Magnet, from the Big Fork river where he is

There is truly an aristocracy in nature as well as among men. Broad, deep and swift flowing rivers, lofty mountains, and even towering hills, that were born amid the convulsions of upheavals and favored by geological hands into rugged cliffs, reflected from the lake of the purest water, whose shores are robed in magnificent forests, with rich, deep dark green foliage, all of which are calculated to arrest the attention, and inspire us with grandeur, august considerations and even reverence. This was my impression when on the 10th day of April, 1893, I reached and resided on the banks of what is unfortunately deserted the Big Forks River. Shod with snow shoes, with a sixty pound pack on my back, with compass for my guide, I had wandered from the valley of the Mississippi. I must confess that I was not prepared to find this river open in many places; so much so, that it behooved me to exercise some caution in selecting a crossing, and the absence of snow from the hills over which I had passed in approaching this valley was frequently a subject of regret. It was contrasted with that of the Mississippi.

Large flocks of duck and other water fowl, together with the birds of song greeted me on every bank, indicating the advent of the season, the true harbinger of spring. In decending the range of hills, to which I have referred, many mineral springs, rich in iron, lay in my way, and the avoid them, or keep out of them, necessitated constant vigilance. All this recreates an interesting field for the geologist, when the railroad can be seen in the distance. On the opposite side of the river stands a fine eastern mound, the infallible testimony of a pre-historic race, and whose life history will in time to come occupy the delectable of the archaeologist and ethnologist. From the great number of old, improperly called mounds and earthen, together with the many indications of the various fur wearing animals, the porcupine, muskrat, and the naturalist might find it interesting by visiting this beautiful region.
One can almost fancy as he listens to the wind whistling through the balmier groves, throwing into tremors the various conifers and deciduous trees, uprooting the vast remains of exogenous and esotychodoric plants, can hear the footfalls of the glacial class coming to perfect their studies. I can well imagine that during the season of florescence the atmosphere of this valley is annually saturated into the nostrils of the interesting perfume by the fragrant epigaea repens, of which our girls will in the future gather either to adorn their native beauty or to gum their bridal hair.

The agriculturist will find this valley offering as many inducements as
are to be found along any of the streams flowing into the Red River of the North, from the Minnesota side.
In fact there is a resemblance. The vast meadows of blue joint would furnish an abundance of hay. This variety of grass is abundant on all the small creeks flowing into this valley.
Colwell brook, a beautiful stream made historic by an outbreak of small-pox in '82, flows through fine agricultural lands, on its way to gain the Big Forks. Pine is scarce in this valley and what is there, is occupied by the squatter. There is an unsurveyed region, and I found myself under the laws of frontier sovereignty.
The horny hands of toil who have packed all their food and implements into this region, deserve much credit, and their honest faces plainly indicate the making of good and industrious citizens. These men are not robbing the state of its pine, but endeavoring to get their heads above the tide of poverty. Many an old stump in this region stands yet and although moss covered, it tells of the uncle Sam's back door. The Big Forks is surely the best driving stream in the state. One man to a million is all that is required. As I approach Brainerd I will write you again.

J. C. ROSSER.

C. N. Parker Elected President.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Tuesday evening at the city hall. The meeting was presided over by H. C. Stivers in the absence of the President, J. H. Koop, who is now a resident of Staples.

Applications for membership of C. N.
and F. S. Parker were read and the gentlemen were elected by a unanimous vote. The matter of electing a President to fill the unexpired term was discussed and C. N. Parker was chosen to fill the position. The chairman appointed J. T. Sanborn, A. F.
Ferris and W. Hemstead a committee to solicit membership. On a motion unity carried the chair appointed a committee of three, including himself to consult with the Northern Pacific officials as to their attitude in regard to the paying of First street, and to act with the committee from the council on the same matter, J. N. Nevers and J. J. Howe being appointed.

The regular meeting will be held on Monday evening at the city hall and we are requested by President Parker to state that all delinquents should place themselves in good standing as soon as possible as the annual election takes place the first Monday in June.

Homes at the World's Fair.

There is no reason why anyone should be deterred from visiting the World's Fair by reason of possible inconvenience and uncertainty attend-
accommodations.

The Northern Pacific Railroad will
in due time publish low excursion rates to Chicago and return for this occasion, while its double daily passenger train service, including
(Standard and Tourists) to Chicago, will be usual as at the head of the list in every particular.

To help you in fixing in advance upon your place of residence while attending the World's Fair, we have
your station a book compiled by perfectly trustworthy parties, called
"Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This little book, which you can purchase for fifty cents, contains a list of about 9,000 private families who will accommodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair, viz: May 1st to October 30th; gives their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare.
The book also gives a list of the hotels
with this information before him the intending visitor himself can, at pleasure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, corresponding in advance with one or more families in that locality with regard to rates and the accommodations desired.

AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

Water Affects Sunk Objects.

An extraordinary circumstance that has been noticed with interest, and that always creates surprise when first learned, is the entire absence of foreign matter in the deeper
human beings that have been drowned, or all the marine animals which have perished, all the clay, sand and gravel left by dissolving currents, not a trace remains, but in their place water from 1,000 to 2,500 fathoms in depth covers the uniform deposit of thick, bluish, tenacious slime called globigerina ooze.

is a revelation of beauty not readily forgotten. The ooze is composed almost entirely of the delicate, most deliciously beautiful shells imaginable.
At depths greater than 2,500 fathoms the bottom of the sea consists mainly of products arising from exposure for innumerable periods to the chemical action of sea water, of pump-ice and other volcanic matters. This finally results in the formation of the red clay deposits that are considered characteristic of the profoundest depths of the ocean.

form of the shells of foraminifera, makes up so large a part of the globi-gerina ooze, is here almost entirely absent. Sea water is very nearly a universal solvent, and before any shell, large or small, reaches the bottom of the sea, the carbonate of lime is chemically eaten up, literally dissolved—a result which the enormous pressure of the water must maintain ly hasten.

At 1,000 fathoms the weight of the water pressing on all sides of an object immersed to that depth is very
more than 100 times that sustained at the sea level, and at the greatest depths the pressure is so increased that the shells of the foraminifera withstand it, in fact, heavy metal cylinders laid down with the sounding apparatus are sometimes, on being drawn up again to the surface, found bent and collapsed. Strongly man-made glass vessels which the metal interior is shattered into fragments.

—Cosmopolitan.

When Buffalo Robes Were Cheap.

Up to about 1850 the Indians annually killed tens of thousands of buffalo. During many generations they slaughtered them only for the meat and skins which they themselves could use. Then there came a time when there was a market for the skins and tongues and countless other thousands were slaughtered for this purpose. As late as 1874 one could buy a beautiful fur robe over coat, well made and lined with fannel, at the retail clothing stores in St. Paul for $10. There was a market, too, for the choicer portions of the flesh, but this only cut a small figure in the dreadful toll, so that finally the trade in robes constituted the only incentive for slaughter.—Hamlin Russell in Harper's.

Spring Styles at the BIG 9.

A Memphis man has patented an "electrical vegetation extirpator," the object of which is to kill the rank vegetation along railroads and highways.

A new kind of wire for telephone use, having an aluminum-bronze core with a copper-bronze envelope, is being experimented with in Germany. It is said to have a low resistance and great tensile strength.

A hog on the ranch of Jule Gunter, near Gainesville, Tex., is said to be one of the largest in the world. It is a Poland China hog, and is reported to weigh 1,420 pounds. It is "3 feet 4 inches long and 7 feet 2 inches long."

We are accustomed to think of metals as incombustible; but the contrary is the case. With the exception of the so-called noble metals—gold, silver, platinum and a few others—all metals burn, or absorb oxygen when heated sufficiently in the air.

The late Dr. Agnew of Philadelphia said that catarrhal affections were almost unknown among the quackesses when he attended, and he ascribed it to the fact that the quaker bonnet protects the back of the head and the nape of the neck from cold air.

The Duponts of baking powder fame have retained to a remarkable degree after many generations in this country the physical characteristics of their French ancestors. Several of the family would infallibly be taken for native Frenchmen in Paris, and are singularly foreign looking in this country.

A movement to erect a statue to Queen Isabella of Spain has been started by several society ladies of New York, headed by Mrs. C. Van Etten Mack. The intention is that the statue shall stand at the Fifth avenue entrance to Central Park, facing the statue of Columbus.

Who put poison in the Hawaiian army's coffee? It was a cowardly trick. If any able-bodied man had caught against the Hawaiian army why didn't he call the army out behind the barn and have it out with him without gloves?

After some years of experimenting the Delaware college agricultural station announces that the dreaded pest rot may in all probability be arrested by spraying the trees with a mixture of an ammoniacal solution of copper carbonate with ammonium carbonate. The mixture is to be applied from the last of April to the first of July.

The sex is catching up rapidly. About the time the Wesleyan girls were branding their sister students, the misses employed in a Bridgeport cartridge factory were rolling one of their number in a barrel to punish her for being "unlady." The victim of these latter Amazonian lynchings may recover, but she will probably lose her reason, the doctor says.

Columbus barracks at Columbus, Ohio is one of the army posts especially coveted by officers. Life at Columbus is still simple enough to make it possible for an army officer with no income but his pay to help lead the society of the place. There is plenty of house room at the barracks, dress parade is a popular diversion with the people at Columbus, and no commissioned officer, save perhaps the quartermaster, has any very exciting duties.

The sultan has decided that he will make the proper reparation for the ill treatment to which certain Americans have been subjected by his views. The Sultan is in his generation. It serves this nation from the unhappy necessity which might otherwise be imposed on it of being the first to build the carving knife over the possession of which European nations have so long quarreled.

Accounts from France state that on a recent day M. Carnot shook hands with 500 mayors and over so many people besides. Carnot's handshake is not a Frenchman's handshake, is not an Englishman's. It is a very light and a very ceremonious performance, and may be repeated a great many times before the hand becomes tired. If the president had to shake hands with hosts of energetic and cordial Englishmen, he would have no arm left after half an hour.

The sultan of Turkey is said to be the most extravagant housekeeper in the world. According to a recent estimate his domestic household costs him: Repairs, new furniture, mats, beds, etc., 15,000,000 francs; toilet requisites, including rouge and enamels for the ladies of the harem and jewelry, 50,000,000 francs; extra "extravagances," 65,000,000 francs; clothes and furniture for the sultan personally, 10,000,000 francs; doctores and wages, 20,000,000 francs; maintenance of 500 carriages and horses, 2,500,000 francs—a total of 175,000,000 francs, or more than $38,000,000.

Many villages in all parts of the United States have taken the names of the roadside inns about which they have grown up, but it is perhaps only in conservative Southern Virginia that the "ordinaries" for entertainment of man and beast have given names to villages. There is Jennings' ordinary in Northway county, Smoky ordinary in Brunswick county, and doubtless many others in the same region. It is here, too, that local names immortalize the shopkeepers, the millers, and the blacksmiths of an earlier generation. Oddly enough, one looks almost in vain for names growing out of the bloody struggle from '61 to '65.

The Columbian bell to be cast at Troy next month will be almost as interesting a piece of metal in the historical sense as the famous old "liberty" bell. In its composition there will be swords worn by heroes of the Revolution and the Revolution, but none that were used in signing historic documents, goblets from which the fathers of the republic quaffed their potent punch, rare coins, plate handed down from colonial days, a link from the watch chain worn by Lincoln on the night of his assassination, a spoon that belonged to John C. Calhoun, souvenirs of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson and Schuyler. It will be a unique composite relic of rare historical interest.

EVENT-FILLING MOMENTS

THROUGHOUT THE DAY AT THE "WHITE CITY."

Scenes and incidents of the Great Exposition From the Gray Dawn Until the Shades of Night Had Been Drawn.

The Wheels in Motion.

Chicago, May 2.—Half in cloud land was the white Columbian city by the lake. The sun shone brightly in the sky, but the light of the day was dimmed by the clouds. The eastern horizon had no more of color than had the western horizon. Eastward, where there was breaking, drifting scuffs of mist brooded close down upon the waters of Lake Michigan, so that cloud and waters mingled to a gray field that baffled vision and perspective.

Northward, southward—everywhere, a double, laden veil trailed from aloft to the horizon. But there was a place where the sun shone brightly. To one who early stood in the midst of the great plaza where the crowds should later be gathered, the scene was a picture in plan, ponderous in the extent, and soft white in the morning light, gave more than ever the impression that this was a picture of the world's great fair.

At ten o'clock several guards had placed upon the president's platform a small square table. The table was draped with a square table cloth. Two electric wires were stretched from the floor and carried up to the table. Upon the table was placed a square, pyramidal stand which was covered with a white cloth. The stand was placed in the center of the platform. The stand was placed in the center of the platform.

THE OPENING SIGNAL.

Long waiting for the signal to give place to the great parade, a visitor gazed about at the great crowds, and upon every flagstaff, at every flag, and upon every banner, and tower, smaller banners might be distinguished, waiting the same signal for which should attend.

A GREAT NAVAL REVIEW.

WAR SHIPS ON DRESS PARADE AT NEW YORK.

President Cleveland Witnesses the Greatest Naval Demonstration of the Century and Is Saluted by Many Cannons.

New York, April 28.—The great naval review is now a thing of the past, but those who were fortunate enough to witness the event will remember it as the greatest marine demonstration of modern times. Along the Hudson coast, spectators or participants do not regret having seen or having taken part in the event, although many were thoroughly soaked by the drizzling rain that prevailed throughout the entire day.

The night time a storm that had its birth yesterday away to the westward, had stolen over the Hudson hills, and wafted the rain down upon the city and blotted out the dark brow of the sea from the ken of the people ashore. Along the Hudson coast, water had become one of the great sloping shores were the sides of a great fume of the rain, and the sea was a white day time, when the sunlight might be seen brightening the fresh green slopes and the monsters about, a dull, gray curtain, and a thick, overhanging light that came diffusely and apparently without source. Out on the water, the ships were slowly moving in the dense gray fog, the masts of the nations were softly chafed by the uneasy rain, but to those who were astir as the night was over the edge of night, the ships had been spirited away in the darkness and no eye could reach into the gray thickness, where the black waters waited for the drizzling rain and saliently swayed at prow and stern.

One of the most pitiful results of the storm through the night was the willed and foreboding condition of the

John A. Berkey, one of the capitalists of Little Falls, was in the city over Sunday. The gentleman was very much impressed with the prosperous condition of things in Brainerd.

Little Falls charges Brainerd with furnishing the business for a day for its municipal court. This is unkind as Brainerd is unused to having drunks charged up to its account by other cities.

His family will visit relative in Hamline and St. Paul before going to their future home. The Dispatch wishes them success in their new home.

A gentleman by the name of Wright from Toronto, Canada, has rented Chas. Ahrens building, formerly the Cass county court house, and will immediately put in a plant for the manufacture of lumbermen's implements of all descriptions.

The City Fines.

The fines collected by the city for April make quite a showing for the municipal court. There were 156 arrests and 76 fines paid; 45 were committed to jail and nine were discharged, while the cases of fourteen of the prisoners were continued. The fines collected amounted to $352.95, of which something like $700 was paid in by the houses of ill fame.

The First Run.

The first car was run over to electric street car line yesterday immediately after dinner. The trip was entirely satisfactory and was made in sixteen minutes. The cars will begin their regular trips on Sunday morning and a car will pass every twenty minutes. The cars are as fine and nicely finished as any manufactured and presented a novel sight as they moved rapidly over the line. The streets were filled with people to see the first car.

Change of Firm.

On Tuesday of this week the firm of McCarthy & Redding changed hands. M. Reilly, of St. Paul, acquiring Mr. McCarthy's interest. Mr. Reilly, the new member of the firm, is a son of T. M. Reilly, the city assessor, and was for many years a resident of Brainerd, being by no means a stranger to our readers. The new firm will enjoy the confidence of the people and a success is assured them from the start.

A five-months old child of Geo. H. Whipple's, at Gull River, met with a terrible accident on Tuesday morning. It seems the family had just finished breakfast and had arisen from the table leaving the baby still in the high chair. Mrs. Whipple stepped to the door for a moment and while absent an older child, a boy three years of age, took hold of the baby's chair and began shaking it around the room but coming in contact with some obstacle it was upset and the baby fell face down on the hot stove and before its mother could rescue it the child was frightfully burned on its face and hands. The child was brought to this city for medical aid at once and it is thought that the burns will not prove fatal although the face and hands will be badly scarred.

A Sad Accident.

An accident which resulted fatally occurred on Saturday night at the Stratton house on Fifth street. Louis E. Albright was stopping at that hotel and in company with a friend was occupying a room on the third floor. Mr. Albright had retired and his room mate on entering a little later saw him disappearing through the open window. He immediately gave the alarm and the injured man was conveyed to a room and medical assistance called, he being afterward removed to the Lumbermen's Hospital in east Brainerd. He rallied from the effects of the shock but he was internally injured and died on Sunday night at 12 o'clock. He was perfectly rational on Sunday afternoon and made his will as he knew he had but a short time to live. He had been a resident of this county for some years and owned a farm near Mille Lacs lake. The funeral was held on Tuesday from the Baptist church, Rev. Jenkins officiating. Deceased was the father of Clifton A. Albright, of this city.

The proprietors of this paper are aware that much job work is sent out of the city to be done, and by business men who should get their work done at home. These outside parties do not help to build up the town, do not pay any taxes in the city, and yet they are given hundreds of dollars annually that should be given to the home institutions. A BUSINESS SESSION.

Street Paving Ordered—The City Assessor's Salary Fixed.

The City Council held a regular meeting on Monday evening with a full attendance except Alderman Fogelstrom. After the usual routine of business was transacted, a communication from Mayor Homestead in regard to rumors of various natures was read. Reports of the clerk and chief of police for April were read and filed. The street commissioner made a report and recommended the laying out and grading of a permanent road to Rice Lake. The same was accepted and filed, the matter of laying out the road being referred to the street committee. The pay rolls of city employees, amounting to $841.13, street employees $113.24 and electric light employees $208.33, were allowed and ordered paid. The bill of Julia A. Sanborn of $93.66 for board of city prisoners for month of April was allowed and also several other minor bills.

The street committee recommended that the city surveyor be instructed to make a survey and estimate of the cost of grading and bridging the ravine on the south end of Seventh street. The same was read and accepted. The committee also reported that the N. P. R. R. Co. would build a sidewalk on Sixth street from Main street to north end of platform and make a hard cinder road from platform to the railroad track. The report was accepted.

The street committee recommended the paving of Front street from the east side of Fourth to Eighth, Fifth street from the south side of Front to Mill track, Sixth street from N. P. crossing to Front street, Seventh street from south side of Front to Laurel, Eighth street from the N. P. crossing to Front and on the south side of Laurel street. This report was read and accepted. The following resolution was then adopted:

Resolved by the Council of the City of Brainerd: "That the City Council of the City of Brainerd do hereby determine and order that all that portion of south Fifth street in said city commencing at the north line of Front street and running from thence south continuously to the track of the N. P. railroad, known as the mill track, and all that portion of Laurel street in said city commencing at the east line of Fifth street and running from thence continuously to the west side of Seventh street, be paved. That said pavement be constructed of cedar blocks laid upon two inch pine plank with a curbing of granite, and that the city engineer make and present to the council the estimate and list in such case required by section 126 of the city charter."

The matter of addition built by A. Renslow and barn in rear of Stratton House was referred to the fire committee.

The sewerage committee reported that a dumping ground had been established on the west side of the river, half mile south of main road and one mile west of the river.

The committee appointed to select a hay market reported recommending that the vacant property at the corner of Fifth and Laurel be used for a market, provided that it can be secured without expense to the city, which report was accepted.

Permission was granted Kellehan & Quinn to erect a two-story brick veneered building on lots 6 and 7, block 65.

The Council accepted the invitation of Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., to take part in the Memorial day exercises.

The matter of paving Front street being under discussion the chair on motion appointed Aldermen Ferris, Paine and McMurtry as a committee to confer with the N. P. Ry. company in regard to the improvement.

A resolution was introduced fixing the salary of City Assessor Reilly at $500. This motion was amended by striking out the $500 and inserting $400 in its place and it was unanimously carried.

The matter of collecting the money for the sale of the hose cart to the village of Aitkin was referred to the fire committee.

The sum of $50 was voted to Pap Thomas Post for Memorial day, and the council adjourned.

From an Outside Standpoint.

Brainerd is somewhat interested over the public discussion of the gambling question. The gambling houses there pay $25 a week each "protection," and as there are six running now some crowd is getting about $8,000 a year for the strength of its "pull." Parties who try to run houses without paying for the privilege are promptly arrested. This payment does not go to the city, but to a representative of the influences that are powerful enough to stop or permit gambling in the city. The papers do not state who the money probably benefits, but it is certain that some of the city officials at least act in harmony with the plans of the party who collects the money from the gamblers. It is no surprise that the gamblers pay for "protection," as that is the almost universal custom, but the matter is seldom stated in the papers with names and figures. The gamblers don't object to pay for the right to violate the law, but it seems the Brainerd gang struck for too heavy a percentage. There appears to be little opposition to the games in Brainerd, but many of the citizens urge the $8,000 should be turned into the city treasury in the shape of fines rather than into the pockets of city politicians.—Little Falls Transcript.

W. B. Hamline, formerly a Brainerd boy but who has resided at Motley for sometime, has returned to this city with his family and will live on 4th street north.

A. J. Demeules, who for some time past held a position with a St. Paul wholesale house, is now general agent for the Dakotas for the Drummond tobacco company.

O. B. Johnson, the handsome clerk of Slipp Bros. hardware firm, visited friends in Duluth Wednesday and Thursday. He says it was on private business and probably it was.

John A. Berkey, one of the capitalists of Little Falls, was in the city over Sunday. The gentleman was very much impressed with the prosperous condition of things in Brainerd.

Little Falls charges Brainerd with furnishing the business for a day for its municipal court. This is unkind as Brainerd is unused to having drunks charged up to its account by other cities.

H. A. Hatch, formerly of this city, but who has lived in Minneapolis for some time, has been appointed district manager for the N. W. Life Association, with headquarters at Mason City, Iowa, and has removed to that place.

J. F. McNally, of Little Falls, was in the city Tuesday on his way to Superior where he goes to accept a position in one of the flouring mills in that city. Mr. McNally was a candidate for deputy factory inspector, under the law creating that position, and had very strong backing but in the shuffle somehow Gov. Nelson saw fit to appoint a Duluth man.

Rev. W. H. Ware has received a unanimous call to the Presbyterian church, at Cloquet, and has accepted the same and will remove to that city next week. His family will visit relative in Hamline and St. Paul before going to their future home. The reverend gentleman and his family have made many warm personal friends during their sojourn in Brainerd, and their departure will be regretted by many. The Dispatch wishes them success in their new home.

John Bishop, who lives on the banks of Round lake at the intersection of Gull lake, and whose truth and veracity is never questioned, says that since the water began to rise the fish jump from the brook into his kitchen and it is one of his morning duties to kick the fish out before his wife can prepare the morning meal. During the day they are a little shy and coy and they seldom venture in. As the creek is 40 feet from the house it takes a good strong fish to make the jump.

Rapid Progress of Science.
In the flight of time, how little value we often attach to sixty seconds. But to think how many great discoveries have been made in less than sixty seconds. How often we hear the regretful and sometimes pathetic remark, "if it had been only sixty seconds longer." SIXTY SECONDS often makes a great difference. A sixty second remedy for bronchitis, choking up of the lungs, throat, etc., of course is a great blessing. Cough Cough Cure is such a remedy and costs only 25 and 50 cents a bottle, containing nearly as much in value as the dollar bottle of other kinds. Can be had of N. McFadden.

Brainerd is somewhat interested over the public discussion of the gambling question. The gambling houses there pay $25 a week each "protection," and as there are six running now some crowd is getting about $8,000 a year for the strength of its "pull." Parties who try to run houses without paying for the privilege are promptly arrested. This payment does not go to the city, but to a representative of the influences that are powerful enough to stop or permit gambling in the city. The papers do not state who the money probably benefits, but it is certain that some of the city officials at least act in harmony with the plans of the party who collect the money from the gamblers. It is no surprise that the gamblers pay for "protection," as that is the almost universal custom, but the matter is seldom stated in the papers with names and figures. The gamblers do not object to pay for the right to violate the law, but it seems the Brainerd gang struck for too heavy a percentage. There appears to be little opposition to the games in Brainerd, but many for the citizens urge the $8,000 should be turned into the city treasury in the shape of fines rather than into the pockets of city politicians.—Little Falls Transcript.

THE GENUINE

KEELEY

TREATMENT

Authorized and under the direction of
of the LESLIE E. KEELEY CO., DULUTH, ILL., for cure of

AND

Tobacco Habits

BY THE USE OF DR. LESLIE E. KEELEY'S DOUBLE CHLORIDE OF GOLD REMEDIES.

Indorsed by progressive physicians, phis-thrope and druggists, including Dr. J. DeWitt of Brooklyn, Tennessee, who recently visited Duluth and addressed the 100 patients in line. The United States government has adopted these remedies for use in all States and National Soldiers' Homes. Carefully kept records prove 95 per cent. permanent cures; 66,000 homes already made happy. The objectionable features of Sanitarium treatment removed. No hospital no restriction. All necessary liquors supplied during treatment. Patients are simply required to abstain from the use of the habit. No extra charges. Terms $25 per week, board extra, $2 to $5 per week, in-out pass and inclination.
Good accommodations, including baths, at the Institute.

NOTE OF WARNING.

To the Public:

As a matter of justice to ourselves and to the reputation of Dr. Leslie E. Keeley's Double Chloride of Gold Remedies for the cure of the Liquor, Opium, Morphine and Tobacco Diseases, and Neurasthenia, we warn the public that those remedies are used by no institution or sanitarium in the United States, and that those established by our company under the uniform name of "THE KEELEY INSTITUTE."

frauds and impostors.

We have now fifty Keeley Institutes established in various parts of the United States, where the Keeley Treatment is administered, and the Keeley remedies sold. We, however, caution all to examine well and know that they are dealing with GENUINE REPRESENTATIVES, authorized by us, before taking treatment or purchasing remedies.

The misleading establishment use the name of "Bicloride of Gold" or similar titles. The newspapers often fail to discriminate sufficiently to know that they are impostors. This is a matter of public welfare, and hence this warning.

We desire respect of our institution and invite correspondence which is strictly confidential.

Respectfully Yours,

THE LESLIE E. KEELEY CO.,

HOW A PUZZLE WAS SOLVED.

When you want a certain article, you want the best make that article, don't you?
That is how the puzzle is solved for you,
by authority which cannot be questioned,
that has been solved for the people of the whole world, wouldn't you?

sewing machine manufacturers of France.

federal, the GRAND PRIZE, giving other
medals.

recognition of superiority, decorated M.
Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the com-

Wilson machines.

for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world today.

your own fault.

No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine, and if he
tive catalogues, prices and terms.

electric light plant.

politan now.

The Mayor Talks.

to or proclamation to the city council
on the "gambler's combine" last week.

The following is the epistle:

of the City Council.

that the mayor, chief of police, or any other person, are receiving
certain persons for the purpose of conducting gambling rooms, manifested by the "gambler's combine" last week, that I emphatically deny any knowledge of any such transactions. "Even exists, but let it not be found in your
no Moses, with a wave of a wand could stop all these evils. It has been my aim and object to gradually effect this, and I am now endeavoring to eradicate gambling within our city.

I have previously instructed the chief of police to stop all gambling in saloons
sons congregated, and he has very effectually succeeded in doing so. This no
munity, and I am now endeavoring to eradicate gambling within our city.

of upheavals and fashioned by gneiss hands into rugged cliffs, reflected
from the lake of the purest water,
cent forests, with rich, deep green
with grandeur, august and reverent
April, 1893, I reached and rested on
signed by the Big Fork river. I was shod with snow shoes, with a sixty
was not prepared to find this river open in many places;
frequent subject of thought, when
sippi.

true harbingers of spring. In descending the range of hills, to which
have referred, many mineral springs, rich in iron, lay in my way, and to
suggests an interesting field for the geologist, when the railroad can bring him in. On the opposite side of the river stands a high eastern
pre-historic race, and the many indications of the various far bearing animals, the porcupine included, even
ing by visiting this benighted region.

One can almost fancy as he descends the very wild as it whispers through the balsam groves, throwing into tre-
of an enormous and sturdy beaver dam, can hear the footfalls of the botanical class coming to perfect their
atmosphere of this valley is saturated with the perfume of the fragrant
orn their hair beauty or to gum
their bridal hair.

the North, from the Minnesota side.

When Buffalo Robes Were Cheap.

nually killed the buffalo by thousands. During many generations
at the retail clothing stores in St.
Paul for $10. There was a market for the choice portions of the robe in the dreadful trade, so that finally

the following challenge to Win Megqure:

I, the undersigned, John Pacia, of
Win Megqure, of Royaltown, Minn., to a twenty-five round glove contest, for a purse of five hundred dollars, to be deposited at the time of signing agreement. Now if Win Megqure is the man he claims to be
answer the above.

JOHN PACIA,
Brainerd, Minn.

A DISPATCH reporter saw Pacia yesterday and ascertained that the challenge was issued in good faith. Mr.
derstands that Megqure has been
years ago and that Megqure was given the fight on a foul. Ever since
again as he claims to be able to give Megqure the worst of it and was not
Falls.

Since the above was in type Megqure has issued the following answer

John Pacia, of Brainerd, Minn., has issued me for a twenty-five round glove fight for $500 a side. As I have been a resident of Royaltown, Minn., for many years, and as I have never before been in a fight, I am not at all inclined to sign articles of agreement if Pacia meets me, it must be with the smallest glove allowed by law.

WIN MEGQURE.

An Interesting Letter.

Dr. J. C. Rosser, formerly of this
letter, to the Grand Rapids Magnet,
exploring:

There is truly an aristocracy in
the banks of what is unfortunately de-
pass for my guide, I had wandered
was not prepared to find this river open in many places;
sippi.

have referred, many mineral springs,
ing by visiting this benighted region.

the balsam groves, throwing into tre-
with the perfume of the fragrant
their bridal hair.

the North, from the Minnesota side.
small creeks flowing into this valley.

When Buffalo Robes Were Cheap.

nually killed the buffalo by thou-
buy a beautiful fur robe over coat,
well made and lined with flannel,
at the retail clothing stores in St.

C. N. Parker Elected President.

Trade was held on Tuesday evening
absence of the president, J. H. Koop,
who is now a resident of Staples.
Applications for membership of C. N.
was discussed and C. N. Parker was
man appointed J. T. Sanborn, A. F.
Farris and W. Hemstead a committee
duly carried the chair appointed a committee of three, including himself
to the paving of First street, and to
and J. J. Howe being appointed.

and we are requested by President
should place themselves in good stand-
in June.

accommodations.

senger train service, including
list in every particular.

who will accommodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair,
their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare.
leisure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, cor-
tions desired.

CHARLES FEE, N. P. R. R.
AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

Water Affects Shallow Objects.

things lost in the ocean, of all the
drowned, of all the marine animals that have perished, of all the clay, sand and gravel left by dissolving islands, of all the various substances drifted from every shore by strong
their place water in 1,000 to 2,500 feet in depth covers the uniform deposit of thick, bluish, tenuous slime called globigerina ooze.

conceived. The ooze is composed almost entirely of the daintiest, most delicately beautiful shells imaginable.
the bottom of the sea consists mainly
ages to the action of the sun, wind, chemical action of sea water, of pump oil and other volcanic matters. This
depths of the ocean.

form of the shells of foraminifera,
universal solvent, and before you shall reach the small, reaches the bottom of these tremendous abysses it is chemically eaten up, literally dis-
pressure of the water must materially hasten.

that it would seem nothing could
cylinders let down with the sounding
bent and collapsed. Strongly made glass vessels which the metal inclosed are shattered into fragments by hasten.

BRainerd, MINN.

A Memphis man has patented an "electrical vegetation extirminator," the object of which is to kill the rank vegetation along railroads and highways.

A new kind of wire for telephone use, having an aluminum-bronze core with a copper-bronze envelope, is being experimented with in Germany. It is said to have a low resistance and great tensile strength.

A hog on the ranch of Jule Gutier, near Gainesville, Tex., is said to be one of the largest in the world. It is a Poland China hog, and is reported to weigh 1,420 pounds. It is "3 feet 4 inches high and 7 feet 2 inches long."

We are accustomed to think of metals as incombustible; but the contrary, is the case. With the exception of the so-called noble metals—gold, silver, platinum and a few others—all metals burn, or absorb oxygen when heated sufficiently in the air.

The late Dr. Agnew of Philadelphia said that catarrhal affections were almost unknown among the quakers whom he attended, and he ascribed it to the fact that the quaker brook protects the back of the head and the nape of the neck from cold air.

The Duponts of baking powder fame have retained to a remarkable degree after many generations in this country the physical characteristics of their French ancestors. Several of the family would infallibly be taken for native Frenchmen in Paris, and are singularly foreign looking in this country.

A movement to erect a statue to Queen Isabella of Spain has been started by several society ladies of New York, headed by Mrs. C. Van Ritten Mack. The intention is that the statue shall stand at the Fifth avenue entrance to Central Park, facing the statue of Columbus.

Who put poison in the Hawaiian army's coffee? It was a cowardly trick. If any able-bodied man had aught against the Hawaiian army why didn't he call the army out behind the barn and have it out with him without gloves?

After some years of experimenting the Delaware college agricultural station announced that the dreaded peach rot may in all probability be prevented by spraying the trees with a mixture of an ammonium solution of copper carbonate with ammonium carbonate. The mixture is to be applied from the last of April to the first of July.

The sex is catching up rapidly. About the time the Wesleyan girls were branding their sister students, the misses employed in a Bridgeport cartridge factory were rolling one of their number in a barrel to punish her for being "upish." The victim of these latter Amazonian lynchings may recover, but she will probably lose her reason, the doctor says.

Columbus barracks at Columbus, Ohio, is one of the army posts especially coveted by officers and their families. It is still simple enough to make it possible for an army officer to make a house room at the barracks, dress parade is a popular diversion with the people at Columbus, and no commissioned officer, save perhaps the quartermaster, has any very exacting duties.

The sultan has decided that he will make the proper preparation for the ill treatment to which certain Americans have been subjected by his views. The sultan is said to be in the world. According to a recent estimate his domestic budget runs thus: Repairs, new uniforms, etc., 15,000,000 francs; toilet requisites, including rouge and cereals for the families of the harem and jewelry, 50,000,000 francs; extra "extravaganzas," 65,000,000 francs; clothes and furniture for the sultan personally, 10,000,000 francs; domestics and wages, 20,000,000 francs; maintenance of 500 carriages and horses, 2,500,000 francs—a total of 175,000,000 francs, or more than $38,000,000.

Many villages in all parts of the United States have taken the names of the roadside inns about which they have grown up, and it is perhaps only in conservative Southern Virginia that the "ordinaries" for entertainment of man and beast have given names to villages. There is Jennings' ordinary in Nottawitany county. Smoky ordinary in Giles county, and doubtless many others in the same order of nomenclature. It is a very old custom, here, too, that local maps immortalize the shopkeepers, the millers and the blacksmiths of an earlier generation. Oddly enough, one looks almost in vain for names growing out of the bloody struggle from '61 to '65.

The Columbian bell to be cast at Troy next month will be almost as interesting a piece of metal in the historical and scientific interest as the bell. In its composition there will be wrought in by heroes of the Revolution and the Rebellion, gold pens that were used in signing historic documents, goblets from which the fathers of the republic quaffed their potent punch, rare coins placed handed down from colonial days a link from the watch chain worn by Lincoln on the night of his assassination, a spoon that belonged to John C. Calhoun, souvenirs of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson and Schuyler. It will be a unique composite relic of our historical interest.

Gentlemen:—I desire to make a brief statement for the benefit of the suffering, who had been afflicted with catarrh of the head, throat and nose, and perhaps the bladder for fully twenty-five years. Having tried other remedies without success, I was led by an advertisement in the Sentinel-Democrat to try Hall's Catarrh Cure. I have just finished my fourth bottle, and I believe I am right when I say I am thoroughly restored. I don't believe there is a trace of the disease left. Respectfully,

"I know it, and God forbid that I should insult her by word or thought—still more, by an offer of marriage. I will wait until she is ready to accept me, and then I will propose to her."

"Remember your promise."
"Do you think me capable of perjury?" he asked, with fierce dignity. "I am a man of honor, and I will not speak for me, I must make my money speak. Perhaps she will listen to that."

"Barbejeu!"
"What are you afraid of, when I do not even know his name?" an argument which showed me, the disappointed lover, stood up and down like a caged lion, striking the stones with his heels till the old tower echoed the sound, finishing by throwing himself down, burying his head in the masses of ivy, and sobbing like a child. Suddenly he rose, calm, resolute and cool in voice and manner. "Monsieur, in the very spot where we now stand once dwelt a woman, who loved a man, and who seemed to conspire. Yet he attained his end. I am neither duke nor prince, but I will do the same, and I will do it too well!"

XIV.
I kept my resolve, but saw nothing to confirm my suspicions. The day before Stephen's last concert, after which he was to leave Trouville immediately, we were seated in the Casino, near one of the windows overlooking the sea. A lady dressed in the extreme of fashion came up to Stephen, and said:

"Monsieur, I am grieved, for I must leave to-morrow and will not hear you again. I will write to you, and I will come back, and I will see you."

Stephen bowed, and murmured a few words of thanks and regrets.

"What is it?"
"If monsieur would play for us this evening?"

"I am in despair to refuse you, madame, but the atmosphere is so enervating this evening that I can scarcely hold my bow."

"It will probably be the same to-morrow, yet you will play then," said Barbejeu.

"Because I have promised, and two hundred persons will be annoyed should I fail to do it," replied Stephen, haughtily.

"Two hundred people, at ten francs each—that will be two thousand francs. Here they are, monsieur; will you now play for us by a concert without tickets or programme?"

Stephen had risen, pale and angry. "I will play for you, madame, but I will not play for you without tickets or programme."

SPORTSMEN NUMEROUS

The United States Coming to the Front in the Matter of Gun Clubs.

Had the compilers of the last census given the same attention to collecting the statistics and data of the sportsmen as they have done in the case of the result would have furnished some startling information, bordering on the incredible. Harper's Weekly thinks it is safe to say that there is more wealth among the fraternity, more capital invested, more money spent annually in the sportsmen of America than by any guild, society, order or whatsoever incorporated body in the United States.

During the last ten years the increase and development of the sportsman have been phenomenal. A decade ago the sportsman of America was a club. To-day it is a small town, indeed, which does not boast of its "time team." In fact, the modern gun club sportsman has taken the place of the old-fashioned debating society, and the crack of the double-barrel has drowned the echo of the stump orator.

The makers of the guns in this country could be counted on the fingers of one hand, and the number of sportsmen who have taken the place of the old-fashioned debating society, and the crack of the double-barrel has drowned the echo of the stump orator.

At the manufacture of fixed ammunition, it has increased. Formerly the sportsman of America was a club. To-day it is a small town, indeed, which does not boast of its "time team." G. W. Alexander has accepted a position as advance agent for a theatrical company and has gone on the road.

L. W. Chase has fitted his sample room up in metropolitan style. The Bodega now ranks with the best of 'em in the northwest.

Rev. R. N. Adams, D. D., and Rev. Ross, of Minneapolis, will conduct services at the Presbyterian church Sunday next, morning and evening.

F. B. Johnson will attend a meeting of the grand lodge of Forrester at St. Cloud next Tuesday as a grand representative from the Brainerd lodge.

W. B. Hamline, formerly a Brainerd boy but who has returned to Motley for some time, has resumed to this city with his family and will live on 4th street north.

A. J. Demeules, who for some time past held a position with a St. Paul wholesale house, is now general agent for the Dakotas for the Drummond tobacco company.

L. E. Olson, manager for the Scandinavian department for the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., is in the city and will probably establish an agency here.

The brick yard will be started up next week for the season. Mr. Kehan expects to run a crew of 50 men and says he will be able to dispose of all the brick he can manufacture.

O. B. Johnson, the handsome clerk of Slipp Bros' hardware firm, visited friends in Duluth Wednesday and Thursday. He says it was on private business and probably it was.

John A. Berkey, one of the capitalists of Little Falls, was in the city over Sunday. The gentleman was very much impressed with the prosperous condition of things in Brainerd.

Little Falls charges Brainerd with furnishing the business for a day for its municipal court. This is unkind as Brainerd is unused to having drunks charged up to its account by other cities.

H. A. Hatch, formerly of this city, but who has lived in Minneapolis for some time, has been appointed district manager for the N. W. Life Association, with headquarters at Mason City, Iowa, and has removed to that place.

Dan. Moores lost four horses at Ft. Ripley on Sunday by being run over by the cars. They were confined in an enclosure but were released in some manner and the gates to the track being open they got in front of a moving train. The four animals were valued by Mr. Moores at $800.

J. F. McNally, of Little Falls, was in the city Tuesday on his way to Superior where he goes to accept a position in one of the flouring mills in that city. Mr. McNally was a candidate for deputy factory inspector, under the law creating that position, and had very strong backing but in the shuffle somehow Gov. Nelson saw fit to appoint a Duluth man.

Rev. W. H. Ware has received a unanimous call to the Presbyterian church, at Cloquet, and has accepted the same and will remove to that city next week. His family will visit relatives in Hamline and St. Paul before going to their future home. The reverend gentleman and his family have made many warm personal friends during their sojourn in Brainerd, and their departure will be regretted by many. The Dispatch wishes them success in their new home.

John Bishop, who lives on the banks of Round lake at the intersection of Quill lake, and whose truth and veracity is never questioned, says that since the water began to rise the fish jump from the brook into his kitchen and it is one of his morning duties to kick the fish out before his wife can prepare the morning meal. During the day they are a little shy and coy and they seldom venture in. As the creek is 40 feet from the house it takes a good strong fish to make the jump.

Geo. Bertram and H. E. Richmond can tell you all about the excellent fishing at the thoroughfare. They tried it on Wednesday but say it is rather uphill business fishing through two feet of ice.

A gentleman by the name of Wright from Toronto, Canada, has rented Chas. Ahrens building, formerly the Cass county court house, and will immediately put in a plant for the manufacture of lumbermen's implements of all descriptions.

The City Finances.

The fines collected by the city for April make quite a showing for the municipal court. There were 156 arrests and 76 fines paid; 45 were committed to jail and nine were discharged, while the cases of fourteen of the prisoners were continued. The fines collected amounted to $952.95, of which something like $700 was paid in by the houses of ill fame.

The First Run.

The first car was run over the electric street car line yesterday immediately after dinner. The trip was entirely satisfactory and was made in sixteen minutes. The cars will begin their regular trips on Sunday morning and a car will pass every twenty minutes. The cars are as fine and nicely finished as any manufactured and presented a novel sight as they moved rapidly over the line. The streets were filled with people to see the first car.

Change of Firm.

On Tuesday of this week the firm of McCarthy & Redding changed hands. Mr. McCarthy, of St. Paul, acquiring Mr. McCarthy's interest. Mr. McCarthy, the new member of the firm, is a son of T. M. McCarthy, the city assessor, and was for many years a resident of Brainerd, being by no means a stranger to our readers. The new firm will enjoy the confidence of the people and a success is assured them from the start.

Child Terribly Burned.

A five-months old child of Geo. H. Whipple's, at Gull River, met with a terrible accident on Tuesday morning. It seems the family had just finished breakfast and had arisen from the table leaving the baby still in the high chair. Mrs. Whipple stepped to the door for a moment and while absent an older child, a boy three years of age, took hold of the baby's chair and began shoving it around the room but coming in contact with some obstacle it was upset and the baby fell face down on the hot stove and before his mother could rescue it the child was frightfully burned on its face and hands. The child was brought to this city for medical aid at once and it is thought that the burns will not prove fatal although the face and hands will be badly scarred.

For the next 30 days we will give away a nice Base Ball and Bat with every Boys suit of clothes.

A Sad Accident.

An accident which resulted fatally occurred on Saturday night at the Stratton house on Fifth street. Louis E. Albright was stopping at that hotel and in company with a friend was occupying a room on the third floor. Mr. Albright had retired and his room mate on entering a little later saw him disappearing through the open window. He immediately gave the alarm and the injured man was conveyed to a room and medical assistance called, he being afterward removed to the Lumbermen's Hospital in east Brainerd. He rallied from the effects of the shock but he was internally injured and died on Sunday night at 12 o'clock. He was perfectly rational on Sunday afternoon and made his will as he knew he had but a short time to live. He had been a resident of this county for some years and owned a farm near Mille Lacs lake. The funeral was held on Tuesday from the Baptist church. Rev. Jenkins officiating. Deceased was the father of Clifton A. Albright, of this city.

We Can Please You.

The Dispatch is now as thoroughly equipped to do fine commercial and poster work as any office in the northwest. This week fifty fonts of the latest faces of job type were added to our office besides other material which goes to make up a first-class outfit. In order to make a place for this, additional room had to be secured and the Dispatch sanctum is now located in room 9, Sleeper block. The mechanical department occupying rooms 5 and 7. The proprietors of this paper are aware that much job work is sent out of the city to be done, and by business men who should get their work done at home. This is a state of affairs which should not exist when the work can be executed here at a rate which compares favorably with that of foreign institutions. These outside parties do not help to build up the town, do not pay any taxes in the city, and yet they are given hundreds of dollars annually that should be given to the home institutions. We only mention these matters that those of our people who imagine their work cannot be done here may be dissuaded from the idea. The Dispatch is equipped to do any and all kinds of printing and will be pleased to make prices and give estimates at any time. Call up and see us.

A BUSINESS SESSION.

The City Council held a regular meeting on Monday evening with a full attendance except Alderman Fogelstrom. After the usual routine of business was transacted, a communication from Mayor Hemsted in regard to rumors of various natures was read. Reports of the clerk and chief of police for April were read and filed. The street commissioner made a report and recommended the laying out and grading of a permanent road to Rice Lake. The same was accepted and filed, the matter of laying out the road being referred to the street committee. The pay rolls of city employees, amounting to $841.13, street employees $113.24 and electric light employees $208.33, were allowed and ordered paid. The bill of Julia A. Sanborn of $93.66 for board of city prisoners for month of April was allowed and also several other minor bills.

The street committee recommended that the city surveyor be instructed to make a survey and estimate of the cost of grading and bridging the ravine on the south end of Seventh street. The same was read and accepted. The committee also reported that the N. P. R. R. Co. would build a sidewalk on Sixth street from Main street to north end of platform and make a hard cinder road from platform to the railroad track. The report was accepted.

The street committee recommended the paving of Front street from the east side of Fourth to Eighth, Fifth street from the south side of Front to Mill track, Sixth street from N. P. crossing to Front street, Seventh street from south side of Front to Laurel, Eighth street from the N. P. crossing to Front and on to the south side of Laurel street. This report was read and accepted. The following resolution was then adopted:

Resolved by the Council of the City of Brainerd: "That the City Council of the City of Brainerd do hereby determine and order that all that portion of south Fifth street in said city commencing at the north line of Front street and running from thence south continuously to the track of the N. P. railroad, known as the mill track, and all that portion of Laurel street in said city commencing at the east line of Fifth street and running from thence continuously to the west side of Seventh street, be paved. That said pavement be constructed of cedar blocks laid upon two inch pine plank with a curbing of granite, and that the city engineer make and present to the council the estimate and list in such case required by section 126 of the city charter."

The matter of addition built by A. Renslow and barn in rear of Stratton House was referred to the fire committee.

The sewerage committee reported that a dumping ground had been established on the west side of the river, half mile south of main road and one mile west of the river.

Permission was granted Kellehan & Quinn to erect a two-story brick veneered building on lots 6 and 7, block 65.

The Council accepted the invitation of Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., to take part part in the Memorial day exercises.

The matter of paving Front street being under discussion the chair on motion appointed Aldermen Ferris, Paine and McMurtry as a committee to confer with the N. P. Ry. company in regard to the improvement.

The matter of collecting the money for the sale of the horse cart to the village of Aitkin was referred to the fire committee.

The sum of $50 was voted to Pap Thomas Post for Memorial day, and the council adjourned.

From an Outside Standpoint.

Brainerd is somewhat interested over the public discussion of the gambling question. The gambling houses there have for a week been "protected," and as there are six running now some crowd is getting about a "pull." Parties who try to run houses without paying for the privilege are promptly arrested. This payment does not go to the city, but to a representative of the influences that are powerful enough to stop or permit gambling in the city. The papers do not state who the money probably benefits, but it is certain that some of the city officials at least act in harmony with the plans of the party who collects the money from the gamblers. It is no surprise that the gamblers pay for "protection," as that is the almost universal custom, but the matter is seldom stated in the papers with names and figures. The gamblers don't object to pay for the right to violate the law, but it seems the Brainerd gang struck for too heavy a percentage. There appears to be little opposition to the games in Brainerd, but many of the citizens urge the $8,000 should be turned into the city treasury in the shape of fines rather than into the pockets of city politicians.—Little Falls Transcript.

In the flight of time, how little value we often attach to sixty seconds. But to think how many great discoveries have been made in less than sixty seconds. How often we hear the regretful and sometimes pathetic remark, "if it had been only sixty seconds longer." SIXTY SECONDS often makes a great difference. A sixty second remedy for bronchitis, choking up of the lungs, throat, etc., of course is a great blessing. Cubeb
